Foreword

IN an effort to make this book a possession of value in the coming years, we strive to picture the cherishable memories, and write to aid in recalling the enjoyable occurrences which combined to make the four years we spent in H. H. S. years of happiness.

It is not to furnish entertainment in the present, but to aid recollections in the future, that we, the Modulus staff representing the Class of 1927, publish this book.

Dedication

IN recognition of her splendid efforts at bringing Huntington High School into prominence through her connection with the Sunshine Society, and in an endeavor to show our gratitude for the influence exerted over our class members during the earlier days in Huntington High School, we the Senior Class of 1927, dedicate this sixteenth annual, The Modulus, to

Administration

J. M. Scudder, Superintendent

THE Declaration of Independence is the greatest educational program ever presented in the world. Its very fundamentals depend upon universal intelligence and righteousness. Its author declared the consent of the governed to be the true foundation of all just authority. He affirmed his allegiance to a school system that educates the masses and gives each person an opportunity to prepare for his chosen work.

Government by the consent of the governed demands a government built upon a system of education that seeks to develop ideals of justice and service. In a Democracy, consent in the hands of a starving, unproductive, intolerant, ignorant citizen would become an anarchy. There is no such thing as a free country without free men, and we cannot have a free and enlightened citizenship without free and efficient schools.

When the people understand that the school is a citadel of freedom, a fundamental necessity to life, liberty, and property, they will rally around the school for the same reason they fight for the flag.

No citizen can turn his back upon the school without turning his back upon the flag. No man who is for his country can consistently be against the school. He cannot be even negatively for it, for it means life, liberty, and property rights to him, and he cannot escape this responsibility.

The public school is a community center, a common ground upon which all of the people can unite in the interest of spiritual and material progress. Fiske wrote, "Let us cherish our public schools as the looms, and our teachers as the weavers who weave the wondrous destiny for our nation."

We cherish the public school because it is the friend of the boys and girls. It is every man's friend. It stands at the door of the poor and at the door of the rich, offering equal opportunity for training and outlook. It gives to every child something that is more valuable than gold.

Daniel Webster said in one of his great addresses, "Education, to accomplish the ends of good government, should be universally diffused. Open the doors of the school house to all the children in the land. Let no man have the excuse of poverty for not educating his own offspring. Place the means of education within his reach, and if they remain in ignorance, be it his own reproach. On the diffusion of education among the people rests the preservation and perpetuation of our free constitution."

J. M. Scudder

C. E. Byers, Principal

THE safety of democracy depends on the intelligence of the people. If any democracy is to continue as a form of government and meet the growing demands of a more and more complex social order, the burdens of the school become greater and greater. Not only must the schools teach the fundamentals of knowledge, but they must also train boys and girls how to bear the responsibilities and do work on their own initiative.

It is about this latter that this article is concerned. We are turning Huntington High School into a democracy when teachers and pupils are working out the common problems of the school. In fact in large part the pupils are working out these problems under the direction of the various teachers.

That is, we are transferring external authority to internal authority. We want the incentive to come from the minds and hearts of the pupils. We want them to see their tasks and problems and solve them because they want to and not because they have to. This gives them pride in their own enterprises, offers an opportunity for creative thought, and supplies them with their own instead of their elders way of thinking.

In order to make a real democracy of the High School, many enterprises are supplied, enough to suit the varied tastes and talents. We have established a representative form of government in the form of a Student Council elected by the various groups of pupils. In their meetings are discussed and decided the policies of the school. Each member feels responsible for the results of these decisions.

The students to a large extent maintain the traffic and orderliness of the halls. Under supervision they have established a most successful banking system. They publish a weekly newspaper and determine its policy and contents from advertisements to editorials. They do likewise with an annual, the Modulus. They keep up a very splendid Sunshine Society. Many classes have individual pupils working out original projects.

Thus the students are not learning to become citizens but they are being citizens by managing these and numerous other enterprises.

The Students of Huntington High School participate in almost every activity of the school. This applies to matters of school government as well as lessons and projects. They are the co-workers with the authorities, and the problems of one are the problems of the other. Thus we are trying to make democracy a success in school, and we feel in this way it will have a better opportunity to be a success in the nation.

THE members of the 1927 Senior Class lost no time in getting organized last fall; they called their first meeting September 10. Class officers and the class advisor were chosen at once with the following results: Dorothy Grossman, President; Lytle Freehafer, Vice-President; Robert Kindler, Secretary; Erith Wike, Treasurer; and Miss Easter unanimously re-elected as class advisor.

On Wednesday, September 22, the upperclassmen traveled in private cars to Hanging Rock where a steak roast was enjoyed. Another social feature was a masquerade Hallowe'en party that was held at the home of Marvin Brown on Friday evening, October 29.

In November, committees were appointed to choose the class flowers, colors, and motto. The flower committee was headed by Truman Fisher, the other members being Dick Steele and Mae Bauman. The color committee was made up of Dorothy Scheerer, Chairman, Eugene Kasper, and Marie McCrum. Glenn Hummer was chosen chairman of the motto committee, with Colleen Utter and Jeanette McClintock as other members.

Just before the end of the spring term while the present graduating class was in its junior year, the idea of a permanent school seal was presented for acceptance or refusal. The class unanimously agreed to adopt the seal designed by Loraine Heaston as the official school seal. Early in the fall of 1926, the sample seal rings and pins were shown to the Seniors and they were accepted. Thus it happened the Class of '27 was the first to adopt and authorize the use of a permanent emblem on the rings and pins of the graduating class.

Some members of the class attained special recognition by being elected as members of "The Quill and Scroll", the National Honorary Society of High School Journalists. These students are Helen Fisher, Wilma Potts, Mae Bauman, Melvin Piepenbrink, Lytle Freehafer, and Earl Hummer.

Six Seniors were chosen as Honor Society members in their Junior year; they are: Dorothy Grossman, Helen Fisher, Wilma Potts, Melvin Piepenbrink, Lytle Freehafer, and Glenn Hummer.

More Seniors became Honor Society members this spring: they are: Dorothy Scheerer, Josephine Lewis, Mae Bauman, Erith Wike, Truman Fisher, and George Henricks.

Though the class of '27 is the smallest in several years it has ended its High School career very creditably.

Upon learning the date of the annual school carnival, the Seniors appointed the following committee to take charge of their booths: Dorothy Scheerer, Glenn Hummer, Jeanette McClintock, Florence Smith, Colleen Utter, Marvin Brown, Erith Wike, Magdalena Bell, and Mae Bauman. The concessions decided upon were a fish pond and a class minstrel. Articles for the fish pond were donated by the members of the class.

In the latter part of November Dick Steele invited the upperclassmen to a Thanksgiving party at his home. A volunteer orchestra composed of members of the class furnished music for the event which took place November 24.

About this same time a Senior play committee made up of Dorothy Scheerer, chairman, Melvin Piepenbrink, Lytle Freehafer, Marie McCrum, and Mae Bauman, assisted by Miss Easter, Miss Rupert, and Miss Taylor, selected "A Pair of Sixes" for the annual Senior Class play.

Several weeks after the play, the Seniors enjoyed another party. This time the class was entertained at the home of Guy Rinebolt.

THE Junior Class of 1926-1927 organized early in the fall semester with the elections of officers taking place about the third week in September. At this same time, committees were appointed and plans were made for the usual social and business activities of the year.

In the way of talent, athletics and music were probably the most outstanding in this Junior Class. The foremost musical groups was the "uke" quartet, consisting of Alice Ditzler, Helen Miles, Mamie Lesh, and Anna Belle Utter, which played several times in the auditorium and at various social gatherings.

The Juniors were also well represented in basketball activities this season. They won the interclass tourney this year and last year as well.

Members of the class were entertained at a masquerade party in the club rooms late in October. The main feature of the evening was palm reading by Mrs. Ernest Stultz. Games and music were the other means of entertainment. The committee in charge of this party was Anna Belle Utter, Alice Ditzler, Matthew Williams, Helen Jacobs, Glenna Griffith, and Harold Bailey.

In the carnival, the Juniors repeated the "country store," that they used the year before, with much the same success. Other Junior concessions were a gebo stand, and a fortune-telling booth. Another unusual feature was the awarding of a lovely floor lamp to the person holding the winning number among those which were sold prior to the event.

Although former Junior classes always reaped a big income from the annual basketball tournament, the class of 1928 did not suffer financially from the fact that it was not held at Huntington this year.

The class has been very active throughout the whole year working very hard from the beginning to the end. The class advisor, Miss Minnie Hoffman, has done very much to make the class a success, and her help and supervision was more than appreciated.

The most outstanding activity of the year was the Junior-Senior Reception held at the new Elks Club. This was the first reception to be held at this place, and the second ever held away from the school. The reception was unique and unusual in a number of aspects. The class, which has struggled hard through its Junior year, felt more than repaid by the beautiful reception which was given to the Class of '27.

The general committees for the year were as follows:

Finance committee: Marjorie Bayless, Jane Griffith, Margaret Scudder, Eugene Holsworth, Katherine Morrical, and Ralph Hosler.

Publicity committee: Josephine Hawkins, Lena Weller, Lucile Houser, and Mary Shenkel.

Social committee: Anna Belle Utter, Alice Ditzler, Matthew Williams, Helen Jacobs, Glenna Griffith, and Harold Bailey.

Refreshment committee: Audrey Odier, Dorothy Craft, Gladys Shutt, and Liliosa Eisenhauer.

The 1927 Modulus

A COMPLETE reorganization of the mode of carrying on Modulus work was made this year. In former years a group of committees did the work. Due to the inability of the members of these committees to meet together and because of the lack and division of responsibility, this method proved itself inefficient. When the staff was chosen for this years Annual, only one person was chosen from the Senior class to head each department. Each Editor or staff member had complete charge and was held responsible for all the work under his particular department. This new method proved far more efficient and different divisions of the work were in on better time than ever before.

The Modulus staff was chosen toward the close of the second semester last year so that they could begin their work earlier this year.

For this year's Modulus a graflex camera was purchased. With this Mr. Day took all the athletic, activity, and scenery pictures. All the pictures were taken with it except those of the underclassmen and Seniors. The camera proved a money saving device for the book in the hands of Mr. Day, who both took and developed the pictures. This year no time had to be wasted in taking the pictures. They were taken during the activity period on different days.

A definite scheme of art work was carried out this year by the Art Editor, Dorothy Scheerer. The Viking ship idea was used, and this greatly improved the appearance of the book over other years.

Since money had been lost in past years by students subscribing for the publication and not buying it when it came, the Business department insisted that half of the price be paid by March 1, so as to be sure the book would be taken.

Since the idea of a year book is to make a true history of the school life as it has been, every Editor tried to make his or her department of the Modulus true to school life and a history of the school as it had been.

The World

THE World staff, like that of the Modulus, was chosen the latter part of the school semester last year so that they could get started early this year. The staff started their advertising campaign before school started this semester so that an issue could be put out the first week of school.

With a supply of excess energy, the newly appointed staff started to work with the determination to make this year the most successful the World has ever had. They succeeded! Every department of the paper was improved over that of last year. Under Wilma Potts an editorial policy was started and carried out that had never before been equalled. A new feature column, "The Sphinx", of a different and more pleasing type was started by Lytle Freehafer at the beginning of the year and proceeded very successfully.

During the previous semester and summer more efficient methods had been worked out for the business department, and the new staff put these into effect with very successful results.

When at the end of the first semester it became necessary for Wilma Potts to resign her position as Editor-in-Chief because of Sunshine work, the staff was rearranged and some of the new Journalism students were given a chance on the staff, and the old members were moved up. Helen Fisher was made Editor-in-Chief and Earl Hummer Managing Editor. The new position of News Editor, which was created to assist the Managing Editor with head line writing and copy reading, was taken by Lucile Houser, while Ben Kizer, last year's Feature Editor, again took over the feature department. Gertrude Peting was appointed Business Manager.

The staff was continually indebted to Mr. Day for his undying patience, and the careful way in which he helped and guided them in their work throughout the year.

FOR the second successive year the Rostra was edited very successfully by the Latin department of Huntington High School.

The success of the Latin paper is largely due to the untiring effort of Miss Etter who originated the idea of the Rostra and has so ably carried it out.

The paper this year as last consisted of literature in general, Latin and its relation to Roman mythology, Latin as a language, and as a factor in the commercial life of today. It also contained a few articles in Latin.

THE Honor Society was announced this year on April 22 in an auditorium session. Those chosen last year from the Class of '27 who were left over this year included Lytle Freehafer, Melvin Piepenbrink, Helen Fisher, Wilma Potts, Glen Hummer, and Dorothy Grossman. These people met at various times during the year and arranged for the framing of the pictures of last year's Honor Society.

Those chosen from the Senior class this year were: Dorothy Scheerer, Josephine Lewis, Mae Bauman, Erith Wike, George Henricks and Truman Fisher. These along with the people chosen last year constitute the total number that were included in the Society from the Senior Class.

The five percent selected from the Junior Class included: Lena Johnson, Lyman Kitt, Marjorie Bayless, Margaret Scudder and Lucile Houser.

Each year five percent of the Junior Class and ten percent of the Senior Class are selected by a faculty after the whole faculty has had a chance to nominate whom they may choose. Selections are based on four points: scholarship, service, leadership, and character. To be eligible a pupil must be ranked in the first fourth of his class scholastically. Service applies especially to work done in activities for the school. Leadership and character are based on a student's attitude and regard toward the institution. The organization of the Honor Society is national and is recognized throughout the country. As has been the custom for the last few years the members of the Honor Organization held a sunrise breakfast at Hanging Rock in May. At a business meeting held later in the year the officers were elected for next year.

LYTLE FREEHAFER - Secretary-Treasurer

DURING the first semester Huntington was granted a chapter in the National Honor Society for High School Journalists. The idea of the organization is to encourage creative work in the journalism department.

In order to become a member a person must be of junior or senior classification, he must be in the upper third of the class in general scholastic standing, he must have done outstanding work in writing, editing, or business management, and he must be recommended by the supervisor of publications and accepted by the national secretary-treasurer of the society. Due to the nature of the qualifications and the small number recommended for the society, is has been rated with the Honor Society. There are three classes of membership: active, faculty, and honorary.

At a dinner party at Mr. Day's home the six charter members were initiated into the organization and officers were elected. The charter members included: Ben Kizer, Lytle Freehafer, Melvin Piepenbrink, Helen Fisher, Earl Hummer, and Wilma Potts.

Lytle Freehafer and Ben Kizer were selected to write a Constitution for the local branch of the organization.

At various times during the year social meetings were held and finally as other members of the journalism department became eligible to the national requirements, they were voted into the society. Those who were accepted after the first organization of the local journalistic Honor Society included: Kenneth Keller, Mardie Andrews, Lucile Houser, and Mae Bauman.

Lucile Houser is the only junior who will be left to continue the Honor organization next year.

FOR the third consecutive year, participation in school government has been carried out successfully. Each year the school government becomes more of a democracy, and the students through their representative form of government rid the school of any objectionable condition that may exist, and continue to improve on past measures.

The idea of the Student Council is to create better citizenship in the school by letting the students help make the rules they are to obey. A representative is elected by the members of each sponsor group to represent them in the Council. The body is run like any representative organization, all members having equal vote and liberties.

The first work of this years Council was the making of the Constitution. The five members of the committee who drew up the Constitution were: Maxine Robb, Dorothy Mauger, Earl Hummer, Wilma Potts, and Melvin Piepenbrink.

No doubt the most important measure passed on by the Council was the creating of an activity period. The Council approved a plan to lengthen the school day and shorten the periods so as to create a six period school day instead of only five. In this extra period all activities and outside work are taken care of.

The Council made one person in each sponsor group responsible for the appearance of the window shades. They also kept the bulletin board in better condition.

A provision was made by the Student Council at the beginning of the second semester whereby the Monitors would be assisted in their duties of keeping order in the hall by a policeman endowed with the power to change the locker of any pupil who showed disorderly conduct.

THE Hi-Y took a more active part in organization work this year than it ever did before. No doubt the most outstanding achievement was the sponsoring of the district Boys Conference which took place April 2 at the Presbyterian Church. Over a hundred boys from surrounding cities and districts attended the convention. State Y. M. C. A. officials spoke, group discussions were held, and a banquet was served by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Huntington. It was considered by Y directors one of the most successful conferences ever held in the state.

At the election last year Omer Shideler was elected president of the local organization, but due to injuries received on the football field he was compelled to quit school for the semester, and as a result resigned as head of the club. Glen Hummer, however, filled the office to good advantage for the organization.

The club sponsored a picture at the Jefferson theater in order to secure money for the annual banquet which was held in May. It proved to be the most successful in years. Other oustanding features of the years work included the Mother and Sons banquet, the Father and Sons banquet, and the annual hike.

At a Methodist Brotherhood banquet, in order to stimulate interest for the building of the new Y building, the Hi-Y club put on their serious initiation and four members talked on the Four C's for which the club stands: Clean Sports, Clean Speech, Clean Scholarship, and Clean Habits. This was the second time that the secret initiation was ever given outside the Y.

WITH the staging of the State Convention in mind, the girls began the school year with enthusiasm and a spirit of real service. At various times during the year the Organization put on suppers and shows in order to make money for the Convention. A fine spirit of co-operation was shown by the girls and the community in making these a success.

During the year the local chapter sent delegates to both Monticello and Goshen to install Sunshine Societies, while in November the Religious department presented the drama, "Ruth and Naomi," before the school as an auditorium program.

In December the society sold fruit cakes, and as has been the custom for years, went out over the city and sang Christmas Carols; while through the year a number of sick and sad people were cheered by Sunshine flowers and cards. Toys were painted by the girls for the manual training department, some of which were sent to the Irene Byron Hospital and others placed in local Charity Guild baskets.

The mothers tea held in the school library was attended by more than eighty mothers and proved one of the most successful ever held. In speaking of the tea Miss Cage stated that it was the sweetest Sunshine memory of the year.

In March eighty Freshman girls were initiated into the Society with the pretty and impressive candle-light service. A big sister was chosen for each of the new girls, and here again the motto of "Others" was reflected. Too much praise and honor cannot be given Miss Cage for the infinite amount of work she has done, and the kindly way in which she guided the Society throughout the year.

THE Sunshine Society of Huntington sent out its brightest rays this year when they entertained forty-five other societies in April at the sixth annual State Convention. The advisor and chairman for each department of the work together with the society officers constituted a council that made plans and money for the Convention. The scrap book was made by Dorothy Scheerer, Lena Johnson, Geraldine Royer, and Miss Gray. The finances for the Convention were taken care of by Helen Fisher and Miss Ridgway assisted by Martha Scudder and Evelyn Kramien. The work of putting on the penny suppers and social work was supervised by Miss Emma Kline and Eloise Herzog.

Delegates to the convention began arriving early Friday morning, April 22, and soon the most successful of all state Sunshine Conventions was under way. Hi—Y boys met the girls at the stations and escorted them to the school.

Among the speakers at the Convention was Mrs. Helen B. Paulsen, the famous "Mother Goose Woman," who is a lecturer and instructor of great renown over the United States.

AGAIN this year one of the first clubs to be organized in the school was the Commercial Club which strived in every way possible to hold the same position in the school that a Chamber of Commerce holds in a city. The Club's aims were to stimulate as much interest as possible in the commercial work of the High School, and to form a more hardy co-operation between the students and the business men of the city. It also served to inform the students who are expecting to enter the commercial world what is to be expected of them and how they may succeed in business life.

Meetings of the Club were held every two weeks for social entertainments as well as for business. At least once a month a party was held in the club rooms. Speakers at the meetings included the Rev. J. W. Burton, director of the United Brethern Publishing Company, and Mr. J. W. Cole, Secretary of the Huntington Chamber of Commerce.

The organization sponsored a store in Mr. Cross's room that sold note books, paper, and all kinds of school supplies. The Club also had a "Hot Dog" stand at the school carnival.

The principal social feature of the year was the Banquet held in the sewing rooms over which Melvin Piepenbrink presided as toastmaster. The program included songs by the entire club, a violin solo by Harold Bailey, readings by Helen Fisher, and talks by business men of the city. Jack Ferris's band furnished music for the evening.

Biology Club

LYMAN KITT - - - - - President

PAUL JONES - - - - Vice-President

DOROTHY I. SMITH - - - Secretary

MARTHA SCUDDER - - - Treasurer

THE Biology Club was first created to prepare work for the school exhibit, but it was decided to take field trips and make a general research club out of it. When the club was first organized everyone in the biology classes had a chance to enter if they had a good grade average. So the matter of entering the club was based on interest and scholarship.

After the organization, membership was decided by a vote of the members who were already in the club. They held programs at various times during the year at which the members gave talks, and general discussions were held on subjects of biology.

The organization was instrumental in sending for exihibits on silk, wheat rust, and the corn borer. When these were received, they were studied in the regular biology classes and then put on exhibition in the biology department.

The club has taken numerous field trips. They secured on these trips fine collections of butterflies, flowers, and various other specimens both for laboratory and exhibition uses.

This is another of the organizations that made its first appearance this year. The idea of Biology Clubs for field work has been carried out very successfully in other schools, and when it was brought up in the Huntington Biology department by Miss Taylor, it was met with enthusiasm by the students.

Since membership is based on scholarship as well as other merits, it has been considered an honor to be voted into the club. It will continue next year.

Monitors

ALONG with the election of the Student Council members came the election of Monitors whose duty it is to direct traffic in the halls and keep them as free from paper and other useless articles as possible. They see that there is no running or loud talking in the halls, and supervise traffic throughout the school.

The Monitor system is another result of student participation in government, and has worked out far better than those who first instituted it thought it would.

Monitors are supposed to be examples of good citizenship at all times. They are dismissed from class one minute early so as to reach their places before the bell rings.

There are Monitors for morning and afternoon duty so that no one will be on duty too long. Each floor has a committee of students and a faculty member to put a substitute in the place of any absent Monitor.

This year student police were appointed to assist the Monitors in their duties. These policemen did not stand in one place as the Monitors, but they walked through the halls and kept order at all times.

Monitor duty is sometimes long and tiresome, and students who hold the positions of trust are to be commended.

The Monitors have devoloped such a fine and successful spirit of school citizenship and self government that they have become a firm and grounded part of the school curriculum, and will no doubt continue to be a successful institution of the school.

The success of the monitor system is also largely due to the chairman of the floor committees and different faculty members who were untiring in their efforts to help at all times.

Contests

Day, Wike, Brown, Freehafer.

Debate

WINNING the Northeastern Indiana Debate Championship from Central, of Fort Wayne, Huntington High School teams finished the most successful season in the history of the school.

Each of the two Red and Black teams engaged in two debates. The affirmative four started the season by losing to Central, of Fort Wayne, but came back in their second encounter to overcome Bluffton by a large margin. The negative team, which engaged in debates with South Side, of Fort Wayne, and Leo, won both of their contests.

When the season ended, it was found that both Central, of Fort Wayne, and Huntington had lost one debate, thus tying the two schools for first place in the League. The Viking coach, Mr. Day, then extended a challenge to the Fort Wayne team to debate off the tie. The two teams met a few weeks later in the Central auditorium at Fort Wayne, the chosen Norse team taking the negative side against the Fort Wayne affirmative.

The question during the debate season and for the championship debate was "Resolved: that the United States should cancel the war debts owed her by her allies in the World War."

A new and special feature of the debating work this year was the use of a critic judge instead of the three judge method used in former years. In giving his decision the judge summed up the debate in an oral critique for both the debaters and the audience; in this way the teams could improve their arguments and presentation. This is a great improvement over the judging methods of former years, and because of its success this year it will no doubt be used in the future.

Members of the Affirmative team were: Lytle Freehafer, Helen Fisher, Marie McCrum, and Colleen Utter, alternate. The Negative team consisted of: Wilma Potts, Erith Wike, Marvin Brown, and Lytle Freehafer, alternate. Those chosen for the championship encounter were Wilma Potts, Helen Fisher, Lytle Freehafer, and Colleen Utter, Alternate. Mr. Day coached debating and guided the teams to their victories and to the championship.

Oratorical Contests

AGAIN this year Huntington regained possession of the county discussion cup after having lost it for two years. Wilma Potts represented Huntington and earned the right to have her name engraved on the cup as the third Huntington contestant to win it for their school in five years.

The cup will become the permanent possession of the school that wins it for three successive years. Formerly Huntington had won the cup twice, only to lose it the third year.

The subject of the discussion league this year was "Resolved: That the United States should have a Federal Department of Education." Marvin Brown was the other contestant in the local school contest to determine who would represent the school.

Wilma placed second in the district contest only after a disagreement of the judges as to the winner. In the county contest a critic judge was used.

Three students prepared orations this year for the annual constitution contest: Lytle Freehafer, Erith Wike, and Marie McCrum. As in other years the speech had to be of ten minutes duration, and was to be on some phase of the Constitution or its makers. All three speakers chose "The Constitution" as the subject of their orations.

The contest was held at an auditorium session in April with Prof. Fred Conkling, of Manchester College, acting as critic judge. The judge decided that Erith Wike should represent Huntington in the county contest.

The Constitutional contest is sponsored by the Indiana Bar association in order to encourage better citizenship and interest the people of the United States in the Constitution and its history. Any high school pupil may enter the contest who is of good scholastic standing and is under nineteen years of age.

Commerrial Contest

THE Commercial department sent teams to the district commercial contest again this year. There were four types of work represented from Huntington; they included beginning and advanced teams in bookkeeping, typewriting, and shorthand, while there were two people who entered the penmanship contest.

The beginning bookkeeping team consisting of Maxine Robb, Ralph Hoch, and Margaret Hough placed fourth in the beginning contest while the advanced team, Robert Kindler, Guy Rhinebolt, and Arthur Rudig, secured second place.

Although no team was entered in penmanship from Huntington, Cecil Nichols and Naomi Whitmore placed second and fourth respectively for individuals honors.

Catherine Lengel, Geraldine Sheets, and Gladys Shutt made up the beginning typewriting team. Cecile Nichols, Katherine Wilhelm, and Mary Schenkel, who were on the advanced team, placed third in their contest.

The Huntington shorthand team was the most successful of any of the Huntington teams in the contest. The beginning team, Ruth Buzzard, Edna Keehn, and Mildred Peting, placed second, while the advanced team carried off first honors. This team that earned the right to go to the state contest consisted of Josephine Lewis, Dorothy Grossman, and Edith Wiseman.

Johephine Lewis won individual honors in the advanced contest for her school.

Mr. Cross, Miss Easter, and Miss Alwood, who have charge of the Commercial department, are largely responsible for the success of these teams at the district contest.

The Commercial work has proved very valuable to the pupils after graduation, and the contests give them something to work toward through the year.

Latin Contest

FOR the third consecutive year Miss Etter had the honor of conducting the county Latin contest. The contest is divided into state, district, county, and local. In the district and state contests gold, silver, and bronze medals are awarded.

In the local contest all the Latin students in the school competed to see who would win the right to represent Huntington High School in the county test. Those who won that right were: Gertrude Peting, Lucile Houser, Helen Bridge, Geraldine Coble, Ruth Brickley, Roger Ware, Frances Beeson, and Rosamond Ade.

The county contest was held Saturday, February 26, in Miss Etter's room. There were thirty-three contestants present representing the seven townships in Huntington County. Geraldine Coble and Rosamond Ade won first and second places in the 1-A division. In the third division of the contest Lucile Houser won third place for her school.

Along with the winners of the other divisions from other schools these people who won in the county contest traveled to the district contest at Wabash to represent Huntington County.

Test papers from the contest are sent to be graded to other counties from which there is no representation.

Huntington High School has recognized the Latin contestants by presenting them with letters. It has become a real honor to be able to make the contest and they have become extremely interesting and beneficial in stimulating interest in the study of the Latin language and the people who spoke it. Each year students make a better average in the work and the idea of contests will no doubt continue to hold an important place in the curriculum of the school.

This was the second year that a contest was held among the pupils of the whole Latin department in a local contest. This method has proved very satisfactory in choosing those to represent the school.

Cashiers

DUE to the splendid co-operation of the teachers, cashiers, and students, this year proved the most successful in the history of the school in banking. In March when the national banking representative visited Huntington, there were only two high schools in the United States who had ever reached the one hundred percent mark. On March 29 Huntington was the third to go over the top and secure a perfect record.

The idea of the banking department is not to get the students to bank large amounts, but rather to get them to acquire the thrift habit. A publicity campaign was carried on by the commercial department under Mr. Cross, and soon all school students who banked were looked upon as good school citizens. Although the students were not persuaded to bank large amounts, yet at the end of the year it was found that over three thousand dollars had been banked during the year.

At the first of the year a banking playlet was given to impress the fact that students should begin practicing thrift in small amounts early. Those who took part in the playlet included: Robert Kindler, Lytle Freehafer, Erith Wike, Melvin Piepenbrink, Marvin Coble, Thelma Hochstetler, Bernice Shipley, Helen Fisher, Wilma Potts, and Helen Welker.

It was the work of the cashiers to take charge of the banking in their rooms and create as much enthusiasm for banking as possible. It was through the efforts of these cashiers and the consistent work of Mr. Cross that the school was able to make the splendid record that it did this year.

Seniors were urged especially to bank and save for their graduation expenses, while underclassmen found the school banking a great benefit. Since the system of school banking is started in the grades and continues through high school, a student has practically acquired the thrift habit when he leaves the school.

Senior Class Play

THE Senior Class play of 1927 was declared by everyone who attended it the best dramatic production ever presented by students of Huntington High School. The play was presented three times. A matinee was given for the grade school children in the afternoon, February 2, while the other performances pleased large audiences the two following evenings.

The play was under the careful direction of Miss Taylor and Miss Rupert. Mr. Michael, Miss Easter, and Miss Emma Kline assisted with the property and stage arrangements. Too much praise cannot be given this faculty committee who sacrificed their time and efforts to make the play the fine success it proved to be.

George Henricks won the loving cup given by the Senior class to the member of the cast who played his part the best according to the votes of the audience and members of the class. Josephine Lewis stood second in the balloting, just sixty votes behind the winner. Every member of the cast played his part exceedingly well, and many persons expressed their difficulty in voting for the best player.

Dewaine Dolby won the banner given by the class to the person who sold the most tickets. Both the banner and the cup were presented by Miss Taylor in an auditorium session.

A special orchestra was picked from the student body under the direction of Mr. Day. It played for all three presentations and assisted greatly toward the success of the play.

During the intermission between acts, Wilma Potts and Jack Ferris entertained the audiences with saxophone and violin solos that were very well received.

The Senior committee secured the property for the show and functioned adequately.

SYNOPSIS

ACT 1. A Gypsy Camp near London. Morning.
ACT 2. A Room in the Home of Sir George.
ACT 3. Same as Act 2.

Between Acts 1 and 2 two weeks is supposed to elapse.
Between Acts 2 and 3 two years is supposed to elapse.

Operetta

"THE Gypsy Rover" was the fifth operetta to be presented by the chorus classes of Huntington High School under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Branyan. For the second year Josephine Lewis carried the lead. This is considered an extraordinary honor, and has never been accomplished by a student of Huntington High School before.

The dramatic work of this romantic musical comedy was directed by Miss Frances Taylor, and the dances by Miss Cleo Phillips. Miss Hazel Cage and Miss Ruby Etter assisted in handling the choruses. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Day, assisted greatly in making the play the great success it was. "The Gypsy Rover" was one of the most colorful productions ever presented by the Music Department.

"The Gypsy Rover" is in three acts and is built around the character of Rob, later known as Sir Gilbert Howe, of English nobility. Rob is stolen when an infant by his nurse, Meg, who later becomes the wife of Marto, a gypsy. Rob grows to manhood among the gypsies, believing Meg and Marto to be his parents.

It happens one day, while riding with her fiance, Lord Craven, Lady Constance Martendale becomes lost in the woods. They wander to the Gypsy camp where Constance and Rob meet and fall in love at first sight.

In Act II Rob goes to the home of Constance and serenades her. They plan to elope, but are overheard by Craven, who informs Sir George, and Rob is thrown into prison, but later escapes.

Two years elapse and Rob has come into estates, his identity having been proved by Meg. He becomes a successful composer, a friend of the Prince, and a social lion. Constance has remained true to her love for Rob, and on his return to England, he woos and wins her for his wife.

Band

ANOTHER department and asset was added to Huntington High School at the beginning of this year. Much enthusiasm for band work had been aroused in the school by the other Student Bands who played for Huntington audiences both this year and last, so during the first semester the school Board purchased twenty-five instruments at a cost of nearly two thousand dollars.

When the call was given for band students in November, a large number of students enrolled in the work. Since it would be impossible to devolop a band in just a year or two from green material, it was decided to limit those who might enter the band work to Sophomores and Freshmen.

Under Mr. Delmar Weesner, former assistant director of the Marion High School Band, this department labored very consistantly until the Exhibition week, when they made their first appearance with the greatest of success.

In speaking of the object of his department, Mr. Weesner said that it is not necessarily to create a good band, but his aim is toward good will, team work, and to create a standard of appreciation for music in the school.

Mr. Weesner, who played in the 150th Field Artillery Band, expects to extend the band work into the Junior High Schools next year so as to create interest in music in the grades and prepare pupils for more intense and advanced study when they come to High School. For this purpose the school board is purchasing more of the very best instruments.

After the band work started in November, it was given four afternoons of the week. Considering the fact that there was practically no experienced material to start with, everyone praised the success of the band in its first appearance before an audience.

Orchestra

OWING to complications in the program and lack of time, orchestra was left out of the curriculum the first semester except for special occasions such as the Operetta and Senior Play. For these Mr. Day selected people from the student body to practice the special music the occasion required.

At the beginning of the second semester one whole period was allowed for orchestra. Thus, anyone who wanted it was required to leave that period open. This was a great improvement over former years because it did not necessitate anyone leaving a recitation before it was over in order to practice.

Due to the increase of time given this department there has been much interest aroused and during the last semester it played for various programs.

The interest in the band work will probably help solve many of the orchestra problems. Next year, no doubt the band people who have proved their ability and have advanced in the work will be used in the orchestra so as to correlate the work of the band and orchestra.

Huntington High School is making great strides toward one of the most successful music departments in the state. The school board has already invested a large amount in instruments and is preparing to develop and maintain a high standard in this activity. The goal they have set to reach can only be attained through the persistent efforts of the students and teachers. The latter, Mr. Day, Mr. Weesner, and Mrs. W. E. Branyan, have already used every effort to make the students of the school appreciate good music. It remains for the students to realize their opportunities and take advantage of them.

Girl's Chorus

ABOUT one hundred fifty girls were included in the chorus classes this year. Their outstanding work of the year consisted in working toward the Operetta. In addition to this, however, they sang at many places on various programs. Included in their special programs were those for parent-teachers meetings, for Sunshine meetings, and the convention, for a Huntington College chapel service, and the Baccalaureate service of the high school.

At one parent-teachers meeting Ruth Adams, Ruth Buzzard, and Dorothy Smith sang, while at another a special chorus gave the entire program. Josephine Lewis and Miss Etter also sang at many of the meetings.

Those who put on the college chapel program were: Josephine Lewis, Helen Maranda, and Gwendolyn Mahoney.

Girl's Chorus

A NEW plan of chorus practice and study was worked out this year by Mrs. Branyan, which proved very successful and will no doubt be used next year in the classes. A plan was arranged to have each girl prepare a song of her own choosing to be sung before the rest of the chorus classes. These songs could be solos, duets, trios, quartettes, or still larger groups. They were prepared as a regular chorus lesson and every member of the chorus graded those who sang. They were graded according to selection, rhythm, tone, intonation, enunciation, interpretation, and appearance.

This method proved a fine way to select the members of the chorus who had strong voices and could be used in operettas and special chorus work. It also gave the students a chance to see for themselves what they could do in the work and gave them the chance to appear before an audience. It proved a very successful training and resulted in increased interest in the chorus and in music work in general. Students did their best and graded their classmates very conscientiously according to the standards.

Top row: Van Pelt, Kelly, LaVine, Brown, Bauman, Steele, Ritchey, Cussen.
Second row: Yarger, Smith, Myers, Hummer, Carroll, M. Buzzard, Sale, Enyeart, Chalmers, Fisher, Young.

Boys Chorus

OF COURSE the main work of the boys chorus this year consisted in working toward and practicing for the operetta. Those who had solos worked on them while the larger portion of the boys practiced both the singing and the dancing for the choruses in the production. Under the careful guidance of Mrs. Branyan and Miss Phillips, they soon proved themselves capable and their work was creditable.

During the latter part of the year a boys quartet was formed that sang at various occasions and took part in many programs. This quartet consisted of Leslie Smith, first tenor; Lyman Kitt, second tenor; Marvin Brown, bass; and Ben Kizer and Glen Hummer alternating at baritone.

The boys chorus classes advanced this year to almost double their number last year due to the rearrangement of the periods so as to give the forty minute activity period. Chorus classes were held during this extra period. Under this plan many people who wanted to take music, but could not because of their programs, were given a chance to do so. Those who already were taking chorus during their library period took it during the activity period and were given a chance to use their full study time.

The boys assisted the girls in many programs including the Baccalaureate, and during exhibition week when the chorus classes sang at various places over the city. The baccalaureate work consisted of general mixed chorus arrangements and one or two small group mixed selections. Since there are over two hundred in the classes, they could not all be chosen to sing, and Mrs. Branyan was compelled to choose a group who she thought could handle the selections she wished to have sung.

The boys went into the work of the chorus with vigor and they took up writing music as well as singing and placing tones. A fine appreciation of music was developed among them as a result of this year's music work.

Art

IMMEDIATELY after the Student Council instituted the extra period for activities, Mr. Michaels organized a poster class for this period. About fifteen entered the work and seven continued into the second semester. Thus there will be eight students who have had considerable experience take up the work of this department next year.

Instead of having posters and designs printed or painted as in former years the students taking poster work made them. For every one of the ten lyceum course numbers, fifty posters were made. For the Senior class play a large sign was devised to put across Jefferson street, and many small posters were made to advertise the show. This department also made the advertising signs and posters for Banking, Junior Class, Sunshine, and Hi-Y shows, and for all the basketball games.

The work performed for the Sunshine Convention proved invaluable to that society. It included place cards and greetings for the delegates.

Miss Gray's art classes did much sketching, drawing, and painting both for practice and for practical uses.

Again this year various rooms formed Art Leagues and held Art League meetings during the fourth period once a week. All pupils could belong if they paid five cents a month for dues. These meetings of the League aroused much interest in artists and art productions. At the meetings, discussions were given on various noted pieces of art and the artists who painted them.

The money raised through the Art League was used to purchase more pictures for the different rooms of the building.

Athletics

Football

Paul Kriegbaum, Coach

COACH "Fat" Kriegbaum made his inaugural bow here when he issued the first call for high school football candidates last fall. He saw the squad, most of them making their debut on the gridiron, overwhelmed by Wabash, rise to defeat Logansport, and reach the peak of their form when the Norsemen held Kokomo to a 14 to 12 victory after a series of tough breaks, and then see his hopes shattered when Auburn was awarded a 7 to 2 victory over the Vikings by questionable officiating. Only once, after the break in athletic relations between Huntington and Auburn which followed the game, did the Vikings again bid for honors, holding Warsaw to a 0—0 tie.

Only thirty students answered the first summons for practice, five of whom were regulars. Three of these were backfield men, while the other two had received their experience in the line. Mr. Kriegbaum faced the herculean task of building up practically a new forward wall. To do this he was forced to turn to seniors for some material. He was, however, able to carry out a plan which none of his predecessors had been able to execute—to develop a reserve eleven of sophomores and juniors. The fulfillment of this plan, one which will tend to give Huntington a winning team in 1927, was the chief reason why the 1926 season may be rated as successful.

Athletic Committee

A NEW feature of the athletic department this year was the Athletic Committee consisting of Gordon Cook, chairman, Mr. Michaels and Mr. Cross, organized for the purpose of boosting the attendance at the various athletic events.

The committee remained active throughout the school year and proved its worth soon after formation. During the football season snake dances were sponsored, winning the attention of the townspeople as well as the student body.

The mechanical drawing department under the supervision of Mr. Michaels, provided ample advertising material in the form of posters that were distributed over the school building and placed in down town business houses.

The Athletic Committee also had charge of the ticket sale for the basketball games, and an appreciable increase in attendance was recorded as a result of this activity. The committee was an experiment, and due to its success, will be reorganized next year.

Marvin Coble, Captain

CAPTAIN Coble was our flashy center this year. He filled his position well and was always on the job to take the boys on to victory. Although he received some hard knocks he picked himself up and played through the entire season.

"Marno" has played on the varsity two years. It didn't take him long to get over his bashfulness, and at the beginning of the football season in his second year he was right on hand ready to face the grim stare of his opponents.

Captain Coble isn't such a big fellow but that does not keep him out of the game, his speed and endurance have gone far to make him one of the best centers Huntington high school has ever turned out.

"Marno" is a very versatile athlete, having received letters in basketball, too. He is only a Junior and will be back as one of our veterans next year.

Glenn Hummer, Student Manager

"MOLLY," who had been Huntington High's star athlete for the three years preceding his ineligibility to participate in athletics due to his age, made just as good a student manager as he did a player. His selection as student manager did not come as a surprise, for his services as a player had merited him the coveted position.

During his three years of participation in Huntington high school athletics, Hummer earned three sweaters for basketball, having acted in the capacity of captain one year, three football letters and one track numeral. He also received a sweater for his services this year.

Glenn, being an all-around athlete himself, is able to understand the players and has a lot in common with them. He accompanied the teams on all their trips and was right on hand to pep them up.

"Molly" is going to attend Illinois University next year, but Huntington High will always claim him as the best all around athlete who ever left the doors of H. H. S. behind him.

Wabash 0 to 58

THE combination of experience and perfect interference spelled the overwhelming defeat of the Viking crew in their first game of the season.

The Thomcats took the lead at the start, going over for three touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the third. In the second period the Norse defense tightened, but again the end runs of the Hill climbers baffled the Red and Black gridders. We came near scoring but twice—once when Jim Shafer ran 40 yards in the second quarter, and again when Smith blocked a kick on Wabash's 20 yard line. A fifteen yard penalty downed our hopes in the first period while a fumble did the same in the latter.

Logansport 25 to 0

WITH plenty of fight backed by some real football experience, the Vikings showed a complete reversal of form from their first game with Wabash, and defeated the Logansport eleven there by a one-sided score of 25 to 0.

The Norse took the offensive at the start, and after the first quarter, the final issue was never in doubt. Butts went over the goal line early in the second quarter for a touchdown after the Red and Black had marched the length of the field by forward passes, end runs, and line plunges.

In the last quarter Kindler and Petrie each carried the ball over for a touchdown. Weak spots in the Vikings line had been ironed out, and snappy backfield tactics were displayed. The Norse gave an excellent exhibition of their real strength.

Kokomo 12 to 14

AN unusually large crowd of fans turned out at the Gunther field to see the Vikings " do their stuff" in their first home game, and saw the Vikings ship go down with colors flying, losing by a two point margin.

The Norse were on the defensive the greater part of the first half, the Wild Cats keeping the pigskin within our 30 yard line. The score was 7 to 0 in favor of the Red and Blue at the end of the half.

Two long passes to Kindler and Hummer put the Norse eleven in a position to score soon after the start of the third quarter. Butts carried the ball across Kokomo's goal by a line plunge off-tackle. Early in the fourth quarter Huntington scored a touchdown on a pass from Butts and Heaston.

The Norse's hopes were thoroughly dampened when Referee Miller disqualified Shafer and penalized Huntington half the distance to the goal posts.

Their failure to boot the ball through the goal posts lost the hard-fought game for the Norsemen.

Auburn 2 to 7

THE Norsemen journeyed to Auburn and returned with the short end of a 7 to 2 score. The Red and Black clads outplayed the Autoists in every stage of the game, but could not quite cope with the officials.

The Vikings completed 10 forward passes while Auburn completed only 2, and gained 365 yards to 128 for Auburn.

In the second quarter Auburn made a touchdown and a point after the touchdown by a punt instead of a drop kick. The Huntington officials protested this, but Referee Mendenhall gave Auburn credit for a good kick.

Huntington also scored in the second quarter on a safety. Another chance for Huntington to score was hindered by Umpire Amerod when Hummer ran 30 yards for a touchdown, and Amerod ruled that Joe Heaston clipped. Even the Auburn fans declared that Heaston made a clean block.

Peru 0 to 25

OLD Man Jinx followed Peru to "our fair city" and helped the Tigers make four touchdowns, while the Vikings succeeded in making none. Butts, Huntingtons, hard fighting fullback, played probably the best game of his career, making long end runs and crashing line plays. None of the rest of the gang could "get going," and at the time when a fumble would be most disastrous, the ball was fumbled and Peru always recovered it.

The Tigers wasted no time in scoring, and made two touchdowns in the first half. In the third quarter, the Norse carried the ball to Peru's 4 yard line, and then fumbled. A Peru end nabbed the ball and ran the length of the field for a touchdown.

By this time demoralizing fumbles had taken the pep away from the Red and Black, and the Peru Tigers easily scored again.

Warsaw 0 to 0

FOR the third time in as many consecutive years, the Huntington—Warsaw fracas ended in a scoreless tie. The Norse threatened the Tiger's goal three times; once when Ufheil made a drop-kick which was five inches too low; the others when Huntington advanced to their opponent's ten-yard line. Coble, Butts, Bucher, and Ade performed in fine shape for the Vikings. Huntington's usual aerial attack did not get started and only a small percentage of the passes were completed.

The Warsaw team, too, had a lot of hard luck. The Black and Gold took the ball around the right end for a touchdown; but one of the linemen held, and the score did not count.

Columbia City 3 to 23

FOR the second time in two years the Purple and Gold gridders from Columbia City succeeded in defeating the Vikings before a large crowd of fans from both Huntington and Columbia City.

Columbia City scored in the first quarter by a 70 yard run.

"Jilly" Ufhiel Huntington quarterback, received injuries to his head and neck during the early period of the game.

The Norsemen fought hard but could not seem to get together, and their playing was very ragged.

Hummer, Bucher, Butts, and Ufhiel seemed to have all the pep. In the third quarter Herzog made a drop kick from the 15 yard which accounts for our only score. When, during the last quarter, the Huntington bench warmers were sent in, they showed more fight than the regulars.

Goshen 11 to 34

"BULL" Hummer, "Antioch" Satterthwaite, "Nick" Kindler, Orval Butts, Gerald Smith, Clayton Bucher, Arthur Rudig, Thomas Wise, and Gordon Myers played their last game on the gridiron for the glory of H. H. S. against Goshen. They have honorably defended the "Red and Black," and we're proud of them.

The Vikings could not seem to cope with the tactics of the fast, hard-hitting lads from the "promised land." Goshen has been counted as one of the fastest elevens in the state. They certainly lived up to their reputation. Every member of Captain Coble's team deserved all the support that could have been given them.

This closes the fourth year of football for Huntington High School. Huntington experienced only a fairly successful season.

Football Squad

AT the beginning of the 1926 football season a real problem confronted Coach Kriegbaum. With only seven men from last year, Kriegbaum tackled the problem of building up a team which was to meet some of the stiffest opposition in the state. These fellows, who were left from last years team, Marvin Coble, who was elected captain, Clayton Bucher, Earl Hummer, Devon Blackburn, Orval Butts, Arthur Rudig, and Tom Wise, formed the nucleous of this year's team.

Omer Shidler, who was student manager of the team last year was badly injured in a practice game early in the season and was unable to attend school for the rest of the school year. We hope that when Omer comes back next year that he will have better luck.

There was very little time to practice before the Wabash game, which, due to thoughtless scheduling, was the first game instead of a later one. Wabash, the winner of the Wabash Valley Conference, was by far the best team that Huntington came up against during the entire season, but the lop-sided score of 58 to 0 might have been less lop-sided had the game been played a little later in the season. This defeat gave the Norse a bad start, and they never fully recovered from the effects. They showed good playing against Logansport, and Warsaw, while the Kokomo game was made up of very brilliant work, although they failed to make the two points after their touchdowns which would have tied the score.

Although the season might appear to have been a failure, the Coach as well as the players gained a lot of experience, and we are sure that the Viking gridders played clean ball always, so whether they won or lost does not matter so much as the fact that they played the game fairly.

Basketball

Paul Kriegbaum, Coach

"KRIEGIE" has everything that a basketball coach can be expected to have and the proverbial "a little bit more".

When he attended Huntington high school he was a star performer of the squad and the team of which he was a member was the only Huntington high school team that ever went to the semi-finals of the state basketball tournament. Coach Kriegbaum continued his basketball career at Purdue, where he was selected all-conference center.

His experience as a player and the training received at several coaching schools have helped to make him one of the best coach mentors that ever turned out a Red and Black team. "Kriegie" has gained the confidence of the fellows on the team, and they are willing to do anything for him. In fact, the student body as a whole is backing its coach, and feels that it can depend upon him to turn out the best team that ever dribbled out onto the hardwood.

All the students of the high school and many local basketball fans are glad that Kriegbaum will be with the school next year.

Wilson Cross, Assistant Coach

During his two years work as coach of the reserves, Wilson Cross has filled his place well, and has done much toward helping Coach Kriegbaum with the squads.

He has taken his seconds on a number of trips, many of them successful. They also played a preliminary to most of the home games, and in the end were running a close score on the varsity team.

Coach Cross is responsible for most of the material developed for next year's team, since most of this year's team are to be graduated, and those of this year's second ten will fill their places.

Besides coaching the reserves, Mr. Cross teaches several commercial subjects. He gained more glory for himself when the school had 100 per cent in banking. This all helps to make him a better coach.

It takes more than mere ability to make a successful coach. One must have an understanding among the boys and be able to lead them. Coach Cross has proved that he has all of these, and thus has demonstrated his ability in filling his position.

He will be back next year to start the boys under the banners of Red and Black.

Earl Hummer, Captain

THE Vikings showed themselves to have good judgment when they chose "Bull" to take the captaincy of their crew. He was not only one of the outstanding players on the team, but at the end of the season was high point man of his team.

During the season he played in twenty games—as many as any player on the basketball team of a school belonging to the Indiana High School Athletic association can play. His name is on the mythical All-County team which was picked at the sectional tournament this year.

"Bull" was always full of pep and when everyone else was "down in the buggy" about the game Captain Hummer was right there to pep them up.

There is only one thing that is against him. He is a senior and cannot, therefore, hold down our pivot position next season.

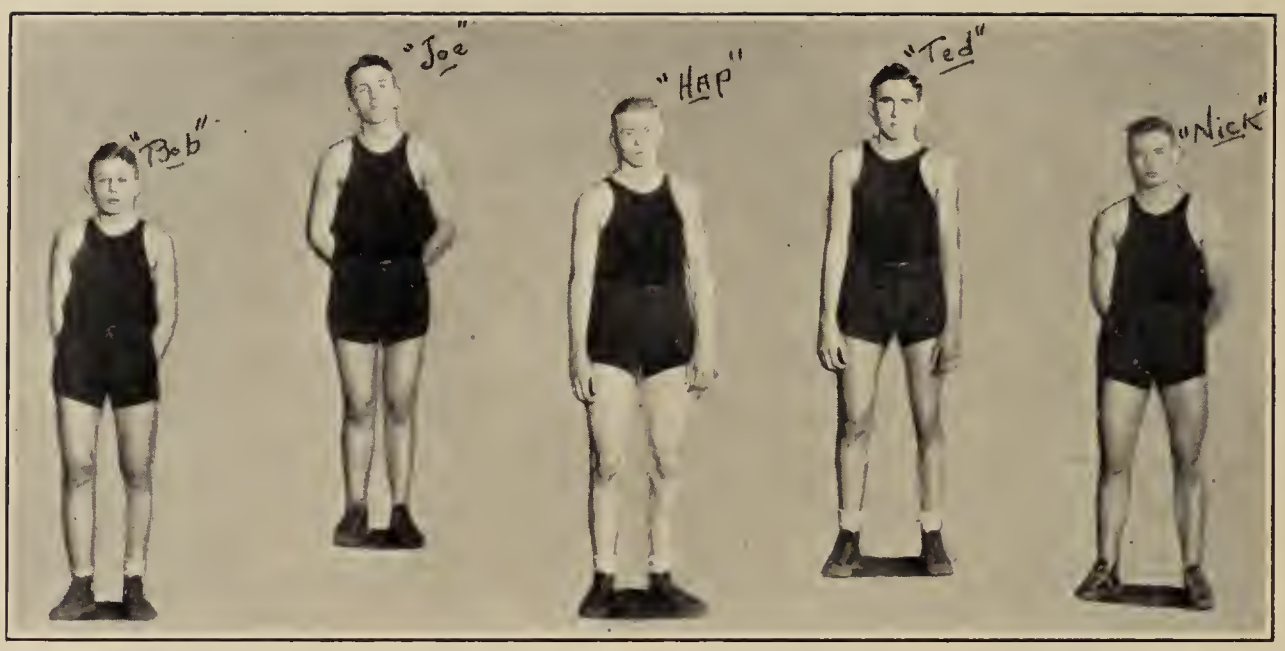
Here's to "Bull", we're for him!

Colleen Utter, Yell Leader

ONE of the first matters to be taken care of at the beginning of the school year was the election of the official yell leader. Since it was custom a popular vote was held and when all the votes were counted Colleen Utter was elected by a large majority over all her opponents in the election.

Colleen never shirked her duty at any time, but whenever the Vikings had a contest she was there to lead the yells and cheers that often secured victory for the team. Through her untiring efforts the Vikings Roarers were organized and as a result organized yelling became much better. She became known over the state as the leader of the famous Viking yell.

This was the first time that such an organization as the "Roarers" had ever been tried. It worked with such great success under Colleen that it will no doubt be tried in the future. Everyone expressed the opinion that the past year has been one of Huntington's most successful in the matter of yelling.



Basketball

Bob Petrie

Although Bob is only a Sophomore, he has earned for himself a berth on the Viking varsity by his fast, clean, heady playing. He can always be relied upon to come through with his share of the baskets, and is perhaps the headiest man Coach Kriegbaum has, and is the team's mainstay.

Joe Pitrucelle

Joe was another player who was developed by the Y Celts, and although he did not try out for the Viking squad until the second semester, his uncanny basketshooting earned him an indisputable right to hold down the other forward position. We lament the fact that he can't be back next year.

"Hap" Warkentien

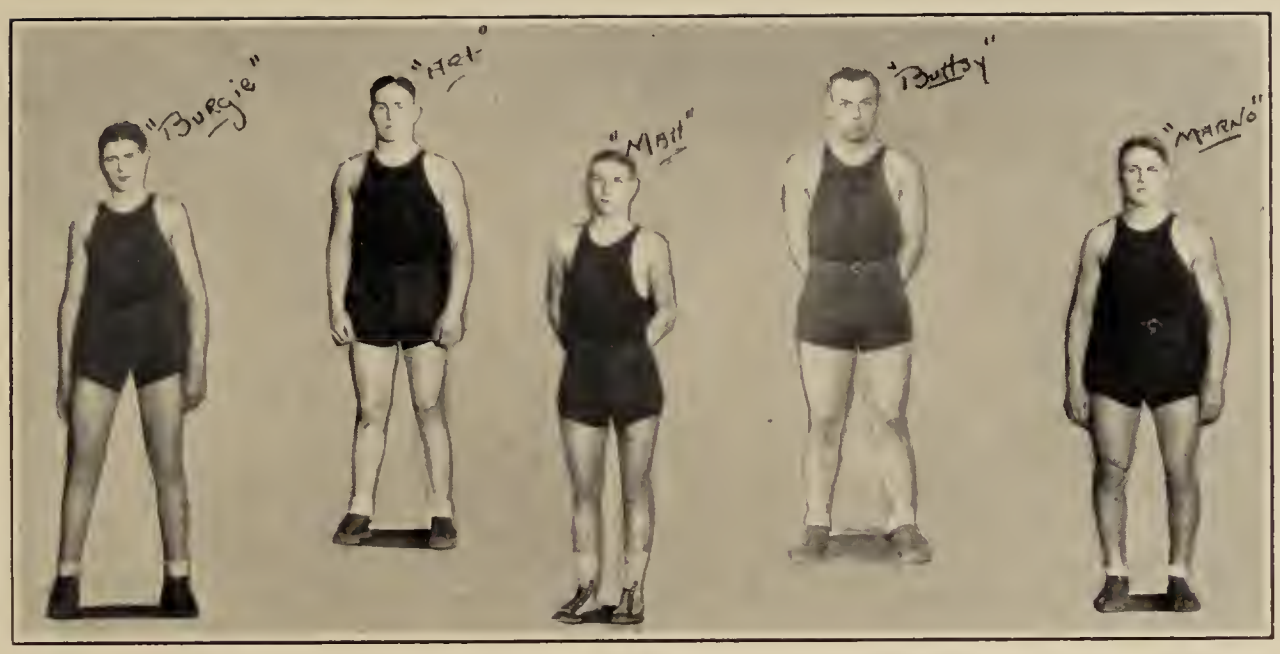
"Hap" was ineligible to play until January, but his stellar playing as a backguard won him a permanent position on the squad. "Hap" also had a mean way of dribbling through the opposing team's defense, and accounted for many of the Red and Black's points. He'll be back as captain next year.

Ted Welch

Ted seemed to be doubtful material until the game with Wabash where he proved himself to be a basketball player of no mean ability. Ted is new material, and being a Sophomore will probably hold down a forward position next year with all the pep and fight that he showed this year.

"Nick" Kindler

Coach Kriegbaum had a wonderful player in "Nick" Kindler. "Nick" has never before played on the Norse team, but has had experience on the Y. M. C. A. Celt team. Kindler is one of the best dribblers in the county, a thing, which combined with accuracy in shooting, earned him a place on the mythical all-county team. He is lost by graduation.



Basketball

Bob Burgwald

Bob was on the team at the first of the year, and was still on the first ten when the season closed. Bob has a good eye for the basket, and his size makes him a player to be feared. He is one of the reasons that we'll have a good team next year.

Arthur Swain

Although ineligible until January, Art was chosen by Coach Kriegbaum to fill out the first ten, and he showed himself to be a fast, brainy, player. When things weren't going well, Coach Kriegbaum could send in Art and know that his wishes would be carried out.

"Matt" Williams

"Matt" proved himself worthy of the first ten and Kriegbaum put him there. "Matt" got a lot of experience with the T. N. T's. and can be expected to do his share of the playing. Since he is only a Junior, he will probably be on the first squad next year, too.

Orval Butts

"Buttsy" has played for Huntington High three years, being on the regular squad most of last season. He played in more than half of the games this season, and was a very dependable player. Sorry to lose him.

Marvin Coble

"Marno", our other back guard, could always be depended upon to deliver the goods when Kriegbaum needed him. He always had plenty of fighting spirit, and when he went into the game he meant business. "Marno" is only a Junior, and can be expected to do big things again next year.

Standing: G. Hummer, Welsh, Pitrucelle, Kindler, Warkentien, Burgwald, Kriegbaum.
Seated: Swain, Petrie, Coble, Williams, E. Hummer.

Varsity Season

THE opening game of the 1926-1927 basketball season was played with Muncie at the Ball gymnasium at Muncie. The inexperienced Viking crew was defeated at the hands of the Bearcats by a large score.

It took the Norse four games to get started, as they also fell before Peru, Burlington, and South Bend. Then they journeyed to Warren to battle with their old rivals. The large crowd which followed them over were well satisfied with the win, and returned home with a higher regard for the crew.

The season was not what might be called a successful one, but the Red and Black clads won more games than they lost, a thing that cannot be said of all of the teams in the county, or state either.

Because the teams of the county realized that practically the only way that Huntington could be defeated in the sectional tournament was by getting the meet away from the city, a petition was sent to each principal in the county, the signing of which would put the tournament in Warren instead of Huntington as it had been for the last ten years. All except three of the school heads signed the petition, and on Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5, the Vikings journeyed to Warren.

By virtue of brilliant playing, the Vikings met the Schultzmen of Clear Creek in the finals. The Norse led at the half 15 to 11, but when with a few moments to play the Huntington crowd was fouled for razzing the referee, the morale was taken from the team, and at the end of the game the score stood 28 to 25 in favor of the farmers.

The Vikings and their followers felt badly, of course, at this defeat which was the first in ten years; but it put into them a desire and determination to win next year that cannot help but be rewarded.

Standing: Barnhisel, Kindler, Whitelock, Newell.
Seated: Fryes, Butts, Heaston.

Reserve Season

THE Vikings Reserves, under the guidance of Wilson Cross, brought out a lot of promising material for future years. Although no enviable record was made, the boys did their best in all of their contests.

The team was changed around a lot, and when Coach Kriegbaum needed boys for the first team he always selected those fellows who were doing the best playing on the Reserve team, thereby cutting down the strength of the seconds. They scored as many points as their opponents, being defeated several times by only one point, and at other times running up a big lead over them.

Since the team exists for the purpose of developing material for the Varsity, there are very few Seniors on it. Most of the members of the team are Sophomores who, by the time they are Seniors, should make excellent players for the Varsity team.

Kneeling: Brebaugh, Fryer, Coble, J. Heaston, Petrie, Kitt, McClure, Smith, Lehman.

Baseball

COACH Kriegbaum faced the enjoyable prospect of having a veteran nine available at the start of last season together with a powerful staff of canny pitchers. Entrenched behind the airtight pitching of Swain, the Norsemen walked over Andrews and Roanoke, and then conquered Clear Creek, not the touted Shultzmen who crushed the Vikings in the sectional basketball tournament.

Prowess at the plate was embodied in the makeup of several of the squad at the start of the season, but Coach Kriegbaum sent the nine through several series of hard workouts before this ability rose to the surface. The work of Heaston behind the bat, Swain and Rudig in the box, and Coble, Petrie, Hummer, and Brebaugh on the diamond was outstanding this year.

The big void in the pitching staff next season will be the hardest for the local mentor to fill. Newell will be back on the slab, but Coach Kriegbaum will be forced to find a relief hurler. Several promising players will vie for Hummer's place at first and there is a wealth of outfielders on hand to fill Smith's place.

Swain cut a nitch in the high school baseball row of fame when he struck out 19 out of 23 batters in the Andrews game. No runs, no hits, and only one error were chalked up against the Viking ace. The record of 19 strikeouts in 7 innings beats Kiracofe's mark of 18 in 9 innings against Central of Fort Wayne in 1925.

Track

COACH Cook issued first summons for practice in track with the prospect of having a mediocre team; but despite the fact that few turned out, they developed in two brief weeks into a husky flock of athletes who won the county title with ease, and then went on to gain recognition for the Red and Black colors on foreign cinders.

Huntington High School sponsored the first county track and field meet on Saturday, April 16, at Hiers Park. Six other schools sent teams to compete for the silver loving cup set up as a trophy for the winner. The Red and Black won with a total of 56½ points with Bippus being next with 13 points. Andrews placed to gain 10 counters, Jefferson Center garnered 9, Clear Creek secured 7½, and Rock Creek managed to get 1 point.

Although the events were handicapped by a wet track, good time was made in many instances, and the meet was declared a success. It is planned to sponsor such a gathering of county athletes annually.

Several of the outstanding members of the team will be graduated this year. Smith, Nolan, Swain, and Piepenbrink were among the most consistent winners, and all four are lost by graduation. However, a good array of talent from which to develop a winning squad will be left, including Fryer, Young, Lahr, Welch, and Ade.

This is the first year that Huntington High School has put much emphasis on the cinder sport. Some individuals have been entered in scattered meets in other years, but nothing has been done as a school. It is expected that with such an auspicious start as this year proved to be, that the sport will hold an increasingly important position in the list of activities.

Seated: Welch, Christie, Brown, Deerwester, V. Casper, Scudder, Christ, Phillips, Tuxworth, H. Johnson, Sale, Brickley, Hollabird, Evans.

Girl's Swimming Class

AT the beginning of the school year, Miss Phillips, girls' athletic director, negotiated with Mr. Fred Bippus, owner of the Hotel La Fontaine for the use of the beautiful Egyptian pool. Through the courtesy of Mr. Bippus the pool was secured, and a swimming club was organized. Forty girls received memberships to the Hoosier Swimming Club of the hotel, and thereby were eligible to the high school swimming class.

The Natatorium is one of the most beautiful in the country, and the pool has been declared to be exceedingly fast.

The girls who attended the class, which was held every Wednesday after school, received much needed exercise and at the same time were furnished recreation. Water polo and many other games were played by the members of the class who could swim, and afforded much amusement for the on-lookers who attended the sessions, and to those girls who could not take part in the fun.

There were many girls at the beginning of the term who could not swim, but at the end of the term every girl who regularly attended the class could keep herself up in the water, while some were quite agile in that sport which is thought by many to be king of them all. Swimming exercises all of those muscles of the body which lie dormant during other exercise and tends to regulate the weight, a fact which has won to this sport, many converts.

Miss Phillips and Mr. Jolly J. Barr, swimming director at the Hotel La Fontaine, gave instructions in swimming, and Colleen Utter assisted in teaching many of the girls to dive properly. All the girls profited by their experience, and if it is possible to secure the pool, a class will be organized next year.

Second row: Lengel, Hoffman, Hawkins, A. Utter, Newell, Knight, Lewis, Christ.
Front row: H. Johnson, C. Utter, Bayless, Phillips, Lind, Brickley, Peting, Mehrling.

Girl's Athletic Association

THE Huntington Girls Athletic Association was organized and officers elected on April 18, 1927. The officers are: Lena Johnson, president; Marjorie Bayless, vice president; Marian Lind, secretary-treasurer; Gertrude Peting and Anna Belle Utter, reporters; and Miss Cleo Dale Phillips, advisor.

The organization was first started when Indiana University sent letters to all high schools to urge them to send a delegate to a convention to be held at Bloomington for the purpose of discussing the introduction of such an association in the high schools. Lena Johnson was sent to represent Huntington High School.

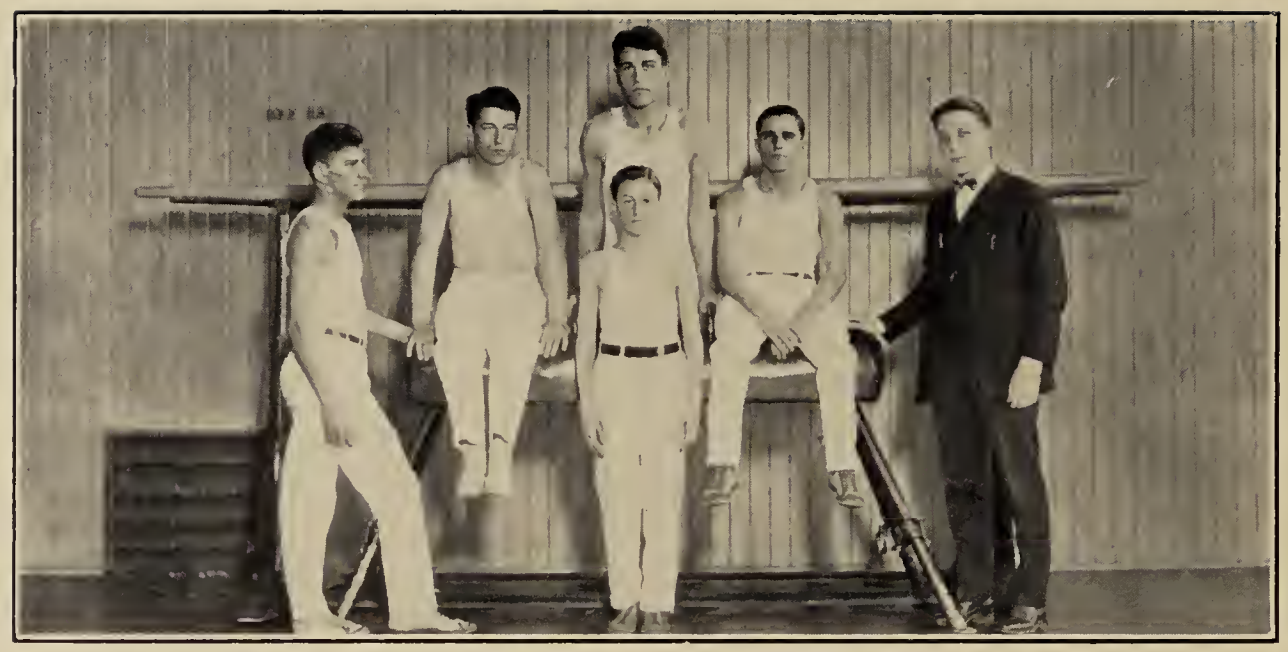
To have it a state-wide organization and to have a standardized point system were two other aims of the organization. Any girl is eligible to membership who has earned 125 points, and has passing grades in her work.

Awards are made to the girls such as the letter "H" and class numerals. Probably a sweater will be given as the highest award. Points may be won by passing special tests. Points can be also be won in volleyball, basketball, baseball, tennis, and swimming.

There are several health rules which the members are expected to adhere to. They include brushing the teeth at least twice daily, eating regular meals each day, no eating between meals, and getting eight hours of sleep each night.

There is a state constitution for this organization while each of the schools which are members have constitutions of their own.

This organization is expected to be very active next year and due to its aims will be beneficial to the girls of H. H. S.



Back: Heaston, Hummer, Nolan.
Front: Fults, Warkentien, Cook.

Boy's Gym Team

MUCH interest was taken in the boys' gymnasium work this year. Classes were held on Tuesdays and Thursdays the second, third, fourth, and sixth periods, and on Fridays the second, fourth and sixth periods. Mr. Kriegbaum taught the morning classes, and Mr. Cook took charge of the afternoon sessions.

The gym work this year consisted of apparatus work, games, marching and calisthenics. The apparatus work took up a great part of the time, although games were not slighted. A play day was enjoyed once or twice a week. Calisthenics also had a place in the routine of the day.

Huntington is one of the few schools in the state to offer this line of athletics in the high school curriculum, and much interest is shown in it.

A state gymnastic meet was held at Bloomington on April 2. From a large number of candidates who wished to represent Huntington High School at the meet, Earl Hummer, Walter Nolan, Joe Heaston, Edwin Warkentien, and Howard Fults were chosen to carry Huntington's colors. They came back from the meet with second place according to the percent rankings.

In this work every effort is made to develop a coordination of muscles, and a building up of physical endurance which is necessary to make healthy pupils and future citizens. The aim and purpose of this department is to give every student a chance to take part in some form of athletics, and to present to every pupil a way in which he may really build up his body, that his mind and spirit may have a better place to live in.

December

Wednesday, 1. Another sad day. Report cards again.

Thursday, 2. Sam Grathwell spoke on the lyceum today on "Getting by Your Hoodoo." I guess most of us do.

Friday, 3. Basketball tickets put on sale today. Two ways were proposed to pay for the tickets. We hope everyone buys one.

We hope old man "Hard Luck" is not going to follow us in basketball too, but it seems so. Look at this: Muncie, 60; Vikings, 28.

Tuesday, 7. Another speech today. How we do love speeches. Oh well, anything to take up time.

Wednesday, 8. "The Gypsy Rover" was given this afternoon for the school children (don't tell, but the Vikings were there). We heard it was quite good. We'll see tomorrow and Friday.

Friday, 10. "The Gypsy Rover" was a success! Everybody prefers it to the one given last year. Beat again, Peru 35; Huntington, 22.

Saturday, 11. There must be a hoodoo on our team. Vikings, 23; Burlington, 47. Better luck next time, Vikings.

Friday, 17. Hurrah! Some luck! Our negative team won the debate today! "Resolved; The United States war debt should be canceled."

Friday, December 17 This is terrible! ????!!!!XX??! We sure are unlucky. South end beat us 27 to 19 after a hard fight on our part. Welch and Hummer were high point men.

Wednesday, December 22 There was a Christmas program given this morning in auditorium in charge of Mr. Byers. "Cantique O Noel" was sung by Josephine Lewis and "Silent Night" by the entire student body.

Wednesday, December 22 The Vikings downed Warren 38 to 21 tonight. This is quite a climax to school work until January 3 when we have to come back.

February

Tuesday, February 1 The seniors gave a "Pair of Sixes" for the grade children this afternoon. We hear it is a large success. All the better for the seniors.

Friday, February 4 Here is what everyone is hearing, "That is the best play the seniors have had for years." Aren't we seniors happy though?

Wednesday, February 9 The Mother's Tea given by the Sunshine girls went over big. Every mother enjoyed herself thoroughly. The girls gave a fine program.

Friday, February 5 It seems as if we just can't beat a game. Here we were ahead of Bluffton until the last five minutes and then they pep up and beat us 37 to 28. Such luck.

Friday, February 11 More tough luck. Decatur beat us 27 to 23. Joe Pitrucelle was the star of the game tonight.

Saturday, February 12 We sure must have a jinx on our team. An overtime game with Lafayette tonight and they beat us one point, the score being 31 to 30. Petrie and Kindler scored as best players in this game. Hummer was high point man. Muncie only beat Lafayette one point.

Monday, February 14 Valentine Day. A lot of hearts exchanged today.

Friday, February 18 We sure did run over Warren tonight. We only beat them thirty points. The score was 46 to 16. Welch and Pitrucelle starred in the game tonight.

Thursday, February 24 The Sunshine society gave another successful penny supper tonight. There sure was a jam. Just so we make another $150.

Friday, February 25 I guess we walloped Wabash 50 to 26 didn't we? We have a pretty good team after all.

Every day has a special significance in the PRACTICE OF THRIFT
for those who do their buying at our stores.

March

Wednesday, March 2 This sure is a sad day for some people; we got our report cards. It might make some people see they will have to work harder next six weeks.

Friday, March 4 Tournament starts today! School sure is going to be slim this afternoon.

3 P. M. Hooray! We won our first game. We beat Union Center 20 to 27.

Saturday, March 5 3 P. M. Well, we won both games today. The Vikings defeated Roanoke this morning 45 to 16, and then defeated Banquo 46 to 16. Some team we got. Tonight we meet Clear Creek. Good luck, Vikings.

9 P. M. Everybody sure is down in the buggy. The idea! Clear Creek beat us 28 to 25. What luck! Huntington fans sure are using their handkerchiefs.

Tuesday, March 8 Ralph Warkentien, "Hap," was elected captain of the Huntington High School Vikings today by members of the first team. Four members will be graduated this year: Earl Hummer, Donald Kindler, Joe Pitrucelle, and Arthur Swain.

Wednesday, March 9 Some faculty team we have. They defeated Tipton 33 to 32. The women teachers of Huntington were defeated by the women faculty at Tipton 30 to 11. Miss Alwood starred in the game by making all points for Huntington.

Thursday, March 10 Robert Burgwald won a silver loving cup for basket shooting. He made a total of 384 shots out of 600 attempts. Nick Kindler ran second by making 369 out of 600 attempts.

Monday, March 21 The faculty gave "The Son of the Sheik," a picture show, and a vaudeville this evening. And talk about your vaudeville. We never knew the teachers had so much talent in their "corpores." Mr. Byers, our sedate little principle, walked off with the silver cup in the bathing beauty contest. Good old school days.

Tuesday, March 22 The banking percent reached the high mark of 97 today. Only 20 pupils failed to bank. Keep up the work, pupils of H. H. S.

Friday, March 25 The Parent-Teachers gave a benefit supper this evening from 5 to 7. Wilma Potts won a large silver loving cup for Huntington High School tonight at Andrews. She won first place in the county discussion league. If the juniors and sophomores will get to work the next two years the cup may belong to H. H. S. permanently.

Thursday, March 31 The girl's gym exhibition was a wow! Were there lots of pretty girls? We'll say there were. It is one of the best exhibitions ever given, due to the effort of Miss Phillips and the girls.

H. H. S. has 100 per cent in banking at last. Hurrah! The third school in the United States to attain such a percent. Some high school we have.

NORTHERN INDIANA POWER COMPANY

April

Saturday, April 2 The representatives of Huntington High School took third place at the state gymnastic meet at Purdue University. Terre Haute captured first, and Shortridge of Indianapolis second.

Thursday, April 7 The Sunshine show "Taxi, Taxi," went over big from what we hear. We hope it did, as they can use the money in the convention.

Friday, April 8 Swain let Andrews off with no runs and no hits. Some pitcher we got on our baseball team. We sure have some team. 12 to 0 is a swell score. Andrews better pep up some.

Saturday, April 9 Today was track meet at Peru. We're not so good in track as baseball. We were defeated 78 to 21. There is no reason why we couldn't have won. We have such long-legged boys.

Thursday, April 14 Hurray. I guess we got even with Clear Creek. We defeated them 5 to 1 in baseball today. We aren't so bad. Just wait until basketball season again. County track meet Saturday.

April 16 Lucky today. We won the county track meet with 56½ points.

Wednesday, April 20 Lucky again:. We won our third baseball game today when the Vikings defeated Roanoke 7 to 2. Art Swain struck out 15 batters, raising his total for three games to 53 strike-outs. Play Fort Wayne Friday. Faculty "Mystery Show" tonight. Did you ever see such smooth tricks. Too bad for anyone whom he might not like. Hope his trick brought forth enough money.

Friday, April 22 Lots of Sunshine today. Two hundred and fifty girls and their sponsors arrived to attend the convention. The Hi-Y boys seemed to be enjoying themselves. Be careful, girls.

Play Fort Wayne today. Tied the score 4 and 4. Better luck tomorrow, boys.

Saturday, April 23 Peace and quiet again. Our guests all left this noon. They sure enjoyed themselves. Accordingg to comment, the convention was the biggest success ever.

Bluffton today. We beat 9 to 8. At least the score wasn't tied. Better luck yet.

Friday, April 29 Manchester today. O Boy! What a game.

Saturday, April 20 More game. Central of Fort Wayne invades the city to buck up against the Vikings again.

The track team journeyed to Greencastle today to run the "Greencastle Relays." Luck to you boys.

May

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, May 5, 6, 7, Did we have many visitors? Well, I should say so. They all seemed well pleased. The pupils do not like exhibitions from all appearances.

Bluffton comes to us today. Will we wallop them? Well, I hope.

Sunday, May 15 Baccalaureate services tonight. The Rev. Harry M. Albnut, pastor of the Presbyterian Church spoke. Another jam. We feel sorry for the poor seniors who have to stand all that suspense.

Tuesday, May 17 Hi-Y banquet. The boys entertained their best girls.

Thursday, May 19 The juniors play host tonight. Too bad the reception had to be before commencement, but it will have to pass this term.

Friday, May 20 Kiss all the sorrowful seniors goodbye, dear friends, you will see them no more. They go out into the wide world to make their grub. Farewell, (sob, sob). Another sad day, report cards. President E. B. Bryan, of Ohio University, gave the commencement address.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the Senior Class of Nineteen-Hundred Twenty-Seven, on this twentieth day of May, do hereby bequeathe all of our angelic looks, ways and habits, which we will not need in our future prosperous life, to our beloved underclassmen, who are more needful of them.

Dorothy Scheerer bequeathes her artistic ability to Bob Burgwald (who needs it). Thomas Wise regretfully leaves his flat feet to Milford Toopes. Truman Fisher carefully intrusts his knowledge of Chemistry to Virgilius Ufhiel, who is quite an artist at that certain subject. Mary Bailey leaves her beautiful permanent curls to Jane Griffith, who is inclined to have straight hair.

Mae Bauman bequeathes her steadiness and working ability to Matt Williams. Gordon Myers leaves his good nature to his teacher. Marie McCrum leaves her bossing ability to anyone who wants it. Elizabeth Brennan carefully intrusts her talkativeness to Maurice Newell. Don Kindler is going to leave his ability to shoot baskets to anyone who will be careful with it.

Walter Nolan leaves his great big, long, black, curly eye-lashes to Elizabeth Sees. Jeannette McClintock bequeaths her heavenly form to Helen Sapp. Bob Kindler leaves his awful case of Charley horse between the ears to Jack Ferris. Peg Ulrey leaves her short dress and lazy disposition to Clara Jane Richards. Kenneth Crago leaves his longing to play hookey so often to William Calvert. Lytle Freehafer bequeathes his manners to James Favorite, who is sadly in need of them. Margaret Goble leaves her length to Fredonia Stewart, whom we are sure will appreciate it. George Henricks leaves his charming ways with the women to Marvin Coble. Earl Hummer leaves his responsible position of captain to Hap Warkentien. Cora Jennings leaves her vamping ability to Hanna Cross. Josephine Lewis carefully intrusts her mellow musical voice to Joe Heaston. Helen Piepenbrink bequeaths her ability to give reports for Miss Thraikill to Maxine Ade. Richard Pohler leaves his beautiful handwriting to Eugene Holswoth. Wilma Potts leaves her love for Melvin to Dorothy Brahs. Glen Hummer leaves his many nicknames to Merle Fryer. Orval Butts carefully bequeathes his ability to play baseball to Ray Sutter. Bryan Robbins leaves his humor to Maybelle Lewis.

Donald Shideler intrusts the care of his Buick to McCabe Day. Art Swain leaves his quietness to Harold Spacy. Gerald Smith leaves his sports writing to Homer Bailey.

Helen Sprinkle leaves her friendship with Elizabeth Brennan to Josephine Lutz. Frank Reed leaves his ability to keep in the hall to Rex Rudicel. Melvin Piepenbrink bequeathes his roaring laugh to Hilda Beaver. Dick Satterthwaite leaves his football ability to Robert Thompson.

We, the Seniors are deeply grieved at the sad parting of our most worthy treasures. Beware! If you do not handle them with care.

Witnessed this twentieth day of May 1927, before Miss Beatrice Easter.

The Old Mill

THE Old Mill written of in the following poem is a real place about thirty miles from Munich, the capital of Bavaria, at the foot of the Alps Mountains. The Huntington High School pupil who wrote these verses was born and reared in Germany, and was familiar with the locality described.

This mill is no more active, but helps to make up the beautiful scenery at this summer resort. The hotel which furnishes lodging for travelers is partly hidden by trees of thick foliage. Wild forget-me-nots grow along the brook which flows by the old mill.

The author of this poem has spent many a happy hour at this resort while her father was engaged in painting pictures of the scenery. Many of his pictures may be found in the art gallery today at Munich, Germany.

Oh, how often have I lingered
Yonder by the old, old mill
Whose wheel is old and broken
And forever standeth still.

My childish impulse led me
Down there every summer day;
There I dreamed of fairies and castles
Till my pals called me away.

I thought the wheel was turning
And merrily grinding corn,
Till I realized I was dreaming
And felt blue, sad, and forlorn.

And yet my thoughts still linger
While far away from home,
Still linger in the valley
Where the old mill stands alone,
Where the old wheel turns no more.

Joy In Work

The world can give me joys
    Like those it takes away,
But finding joy in all our work
    Will brighten up each day.

Each bill of kindness must be paid
    Or our success is docked,
For if success were free, I fear,
    We'd all be overstocked.

True friends are like diamonds,
    Precious and rare;
False friends are like autumn leaves,
    Found everywhere.

There are no shorthand methods
    Taught out in the school of life,
Each man must work his very best,
    Or he'll fall in the strife.

There is no cost price quite so high
    As the cost price of success,
And if you think you'll avoid that cost
    You'll have another guess.

The coin with which the bills are paid
    Is in the form of work,
So the thing for us to learn each day
    Is never, never shirk.

Keeping the Doctor Away

THIS Annual is a history of the closing days of an epochal period in your life. It is not a compilation of dull monotonous facts but of events most dear to your heart and to be cherished more each day as you grow older.

In later years you may give a thought of appreciation to the staff of this year's Modulus in as much as they realized that good printing is an essential factor in perpetuating a book of the most eventful days of your High School life and that they allowed us the pleasure of co-operating with them.

Friendship

Precious is the gift of friendship,
It makes happiness complete;
Like the beauty of the rainbow,
It lays its treasures at your feet.

When the clouds of doubt assail you,
And the sky is dark and gray,
You can find some glad contentment
In a friend who's there to stay.

Though you have a load of trouble,
And repine when days are drear,
You can smile and gain the victory
If you know a friend is near.

So always keep on smiling,
Making everyone your friend;
It will banish all your sorrows,
And keep you happy to the end.

Bertha Griffith '28

The Field of Sport

The man who goes out to the field of sport,
And does it to play the game,
Is the fellow who plays for the sport alone,
And not for the glory and fame.

When the sports of the school are over and won,
And the finals of life are in swing,
The man who will win will begin with the gun,
And play for the sport of the thing.
